Forecast for Saturday 18 Jun 2022

Weather: Cloudy to start the day with spells of light rain and drizzle easing into the early hours. Remaining rather cloudy through the morning but with some bright spells at times. An increasing risk of rain into the afternoon, turning heavy and persistent for a time before clearing through the evening. The very low risk of a thunderstorm in association with the rain.

Chance of cloud-free hill tops above 800m: 30% to begin the day but soon rising to 80%.

Low Cloud and visibility: Extensive cloud with bases 400-600m will lift to above the summits during the early hours. Cloud bases largely remaining above the summits but occasionally lowering to around 600m in association with the heavy rain. Following early cloud clearance, visibility will largely be very good through the morning before dropping to poor upon the arrival of the rain later.

Meteorologist's View
A largely fine morning to be out on the hills, but adequate waterproofs will be needed for the afternoon and evening.

Forecast for Sunday 19 Jun 2022
Weather: Largely fine through the day with a mixture of variable cloud and sunny or bright spells. Mostly staying dry but the chance of an isolated light shower developing at times.

Maximum wind: 15-20mph northerly winds on the summits

Chance of cloud-free hill tops above 800m: 60% by day, 80% in the early hours and evening.

Low Cloud and visibility: Patchy cloud occasionally dropping to 600m, shrouding some higher routes, but generally above the summits to begin and end the day. Outside of temporary lower cloud, visibility will be mostly very good.

Temperature: Valleys: Plus 9 Celsius, rising to plus 17 Celsius.
At 800m: Plus 3 Celsius, rising to plus 7 Celsius.
Freezing level: Above the summits.
